FICCI Study Report on Employees in Public Sector Banks

*236. SHRI YADLAPATI VENKAT RAO: Will the Minister of FINANCE be pleased to state:

(a) whether the Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce and Industry has reported after a study that there are large number of redundant employees in public sector banks;

(b) if so, the details of their study report; and

(c) the action proposed to reduce the waistline?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF FINANCE (SHRI BALASAHEB VIKHE PATIL): (a) and (b) The Economic Times dated 4th October, 1999 carried a report attributable to a study by Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce and Industry (FICCI) on excess staff in 'Nationalised Banks'. A copy of the study report has been obtained from FICCI. Following are the main observations made in the report:

- There is a wide variation in the efficiency level among the banks.
- Only eight out of the 19 nationalised banks recorded business per employee of Rs. 100 lakh or more.
- Compared to the newly set up private sector banks, the efficiency of bank staff in nationalised banks measured in terms of business per head, is extremely low.
- Business per employee in nationalised banks (including that in SBI) is very low compared to the same in the foreign banks.
- An important factor for a low business per employee in nationalised banks could be the large number of rural and semi-urban branches where business volume is low.
- On the basis of Rs. 125 lakh business per employee, there are a total of 1,77,405 excess employees in 16 nationalised banks (including SBI).
- On the basis of Rs. 100 lakh business per employee, there are an estimated 59,388 excess employees in 12 nationalised banks.
- Unless the nationalised banking sector gets rid of the excess staff, they will continue to remain inefficient with unduly high operating expenses not justified by business volume.

(c) The report will be one of the many inputs in the Government's decision making process.
